

Hello friends,

This is the newsletter for the week of May 3-9.

If this year is anything, it's unique. Normally the cohort would have their graduation gala right after the program where everyone is in the same city. We're faced with unique circumstances where we are still able to plan an in-person gala, it would just be at the end of November, when we have our official convocation (that thing where you walk down the stage at UBC and get a certificate). Obviously, not everyone is going to be in Vancouver in November, and we understand that would not be fair to only cater to those in Vancouver. We're hoping to be fair to everyone while still encouraging the maximum attendance. At the end of the day, we would all love to meet each other, and profs/faculty, and host a fun and successful event with as many of you as possible. We will all miss everyone who won't be there, and we don't want to feel like you are completely missing out either. Please fill out this survey to let us know if you expect to be in the Vancouver area in November (or if you might be here). Knowing the amount of people will help us plan the venue accordingly. If you will not be here, let us know so we can start planning how to handle reimbursements. This is the first time that reimbursements are being considered for the gala. Please be patient as we try to determine the best way to manage this situation. Here is the form, and we hope to see as many of you there as possible!

Club initiatives

Patisserie Club: Another lovely session with Ming. This time, the patisserie club dove into sponge cakes. Next week, they will be taking a more relaxing and creative approach with basic piping skills and chocolate writing. No prior experience or fancy equipment required. Looking forward to more fun food facts!
